More Than 20 Years Experience

HISTORY OF NUMBER 40

Forty years ago an old doctor was putting up a medicine for diseases of the blood, that cured the worst cases of blood troubles, and time proved that the cures were permanent. After many years I secured the prescription (being a druggist), and took each ingredient separately and referred to my U. S. Dispensary and other authoritative books on medicine and found the medical properties set down as follows: "Employed in diseases of the glandular system, in blood troubles, eczema, constipation, stomach and liver troubles, chronic rheumatism, catarrh, in sores, ulcers, pimples, skin eruptions, mercurial and lead poisoning. Under its use bodily eruptions and scrofulous swellings that have withstood all other treatment disappear as if by magic." To commemorate my fortieth year as a druggist I named this medicine "Number 40 For The Blood." J. C. Mendenhall, Evansville, Ind. The best druggist in your neighborhood sells Number 40, but if it happens that he does not, send direct to J. C. Mendenhall Medicine Company, Evansville, Indiana, and receive it delivered to you at $1.25 per bottle, six bottles for $7.00, sold at WEDDING'S DRUG STORE

SHOES WILL BE PRETTY—AND JUST AS EXPENSIVE.

Chicago, July 14—Women's shoes will be prettier than ever this fall, but just as expensive as at present, Frank P. Meyer, president of the Illinois Shoe Retailers' association, said in addressing the organization's annual convention here today. The price of men's shoes also will continue high, he said. Mr. Meyer declared the association planned to fight profiteers and the luxury tax on shoes and thus reduce prices.

DICTIONARY FOR NEW ONLY DEFINES BY QUOTATIONS.

A dictionary that is curious in two ways has just been issued by an eastern publishing house, the compiling having been done by a naval-academy professor. Its greatest peculiarity is that it contains only words that have come into general use since the war started, says an article in Popular Mechanics Magazine for August. The other feature is its method of defining the words exclusively by the method of quoting examples of their use.

MEN RIDE IN FLAMING PLANE TO TEST FIREPROOF PAINT.

A hair-raising demonstration of the efficacy of a new air-craft fireproofing compound was staged at Atlantic City, N. J., a few weeks ago by two American airmen, late of the Lafayette Escadrille, reports Popular Mechanics Magazine for August, in an illustrated article. Each of the men first donned a special flying suit and metal helmet, both of which had been painted with the compound. Mechanics then sprayed each with gasoline. Meanwhile the plane, which also had been painted with the preparation, was similarly drenched with gasoline. Pilot and passenger climbed into their cockpits. As the engine was started, a torch was applied to airmen and air craft. Roaring forward over the airfield, then, like a flaming, smoking comet, the plane rose into the air, and for five minutes horrified the spectators. At the end of this time the flames died out, and the plane was brought to earth. Careful inspection having been made, airmen and air-plane were found to be unharmed by a coating of soot.

Father (slightly irritated)—Certain? No man is certain until you have him.

FORD BECOMES OWNER OF R. R.

Buy Entire Line To Assure Company of Coal Supply.

Detroit, Mich., July 10.—Purchase of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad by Henry Ford and his son, Edsel B. Ford, was announced today by E. G. Leibold, secretary to Henry Ford. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Purchase of the road was in part, the out growth of difficulties Michigan industries have experienced for several years in obtaining coal from the southeastern bituminous fields. Running direct to Detroit from the coal fields and avoiding the usually congested gateways of Ohio, the line was recognized as a big factor in the state's coal supply by the Michigan Manufacturers' association, which several months ago had appointed a committee to look into its purchase. The plan was abandoned, however, when it was found dock facilities could not be obtained.

Mr. Ford then took up negotiations primarily to assure his Detroit factories an adequate fuel supply, but through contemplated extension of terminals, industries generally in the Detroit area and those in other Michigan cities are expected to benefit by the deal.

Negotiations for the purchase of the road had been under way several weeks. Security holders deposited their bonds under an option good until August 1. At that time it was said the deal would involve approximately $4,000,000.

In announcing the road's purchase, Mr. Leibold declared the price was several hundred thousand more than was originally asked, adding that Mr. Ford desired that no stockholder should sacrifice his holdings.

Some 2,000 employees of the railroad, Mr. Leibold added, will immediately receive the benefits of the Ford wage-bonus plan.

VACATION

And now vacation time is here, When favored folks who roam Look down on us less lucky ones Who have to stay at home. They spend a fortnight or a month From all their worries free, Up-gazing at the mountain tops, Or by the sounding sea.

They have a most delightful time, Or so they say they do, And sometimes those they leave behind Get a vacation, too. For though the well-known poet says: "To stay at home is best," It's well sometimes to go away And give our folks a rest.

ORIGIN OF "NOT WORTH HIS SALT."

A subscriber wants to know the origin of the expression, "He is not worth his salt." He says he ran upon the expression in a book printed many years ago, and he desires to know if it is an ancient expression. It is, and like many other expressions, it comes from military sources. At one time in the history of the world soldiers were paid in salt for fighting. Salt was a very precious commodity, and due men to fight, an allowance was given to them. The known as "salarium"—from the "sal," meaning salt. That is the origin of our word, "salary"—"pertaining to salt." So, if a man was not worth his salary, he was not worth his "salt." And to use the expression at times of a worthless fellow.—Elizabeth News.
